Petersburg, Va., February 1.

The first half session of the public schools closed yesterday, and promotions were made and honors bestowed in all of the schools except the Anderson. A record was made for the half session for attendance. Nearly 3,800 pupils have been enrolled, of whom about 2,000 were whites. The splendid interest shown by teachers, pupils and patrons, it is believed, caused a higher percentage of promotions that usual.

Mr. Smith's Attitude.

It was believed in Richmond last night that the defeat of the opponents of J. D. Eggleston in the meeting yesterday of the Alumni Association of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Roanoke was due largely to a letter written by H. M. Smith, Jr., of this city, as alumnus and a member of the board of visitors of the school opposing any indersement or protest of any particular man by the association.

The magistrate would no longer accept the uncorroborated testimony of the police, and the result was that out of a batch of girl prisoners arrested while picketing, all were discharged except one, and she was fined $3. The visitors, of course, must have thought the magistrate very kind-hearted and considerate."

Miss La Follette also attended the meeting. She said later, however, that she was not yet at liberty to name the wealthy women, who, she says, are going to do picket duty for the striking white goods workers and kimono and wrapper girls, but may say something about them Monday. She had previously spoken to the strikers, all white goods workers, at the Odd Fellows' Hall meeting, where she had this to say about the police.

"I want to say that you girls are better organized than the police of this town. You use better methods in your work. You fight with discipline, while the police fight like a disorganized army. The public sympathy is with you, and you white goods workers will undoubtedly win your strike."

Made Three Attempts.

Reminded that he had never before attended a Cabinet meeting, Secretary of State Bryan admitted that he had not, but added, "I have made three attempts at it." Secretary of the Treasury Bryan declared he ad not had a financial idea since 1896. Secretary of War, Wilson's Secretary of War, Wilson's Secretary of War, Treasury Bryan declared he 'ad not had a financial idea since 1896. Secretary of War Bryan declared he was not Mr. Wilson's Secretary of War, but his own secretary, that he was not in Mr. Wilson's Cabinet, but was his Cabinet. Secretary of the Navy Bryan favored no more battleships until Lincoln, Nab., became a seaport. Attorney-General Bryan, residuary legatee of tea incomplete trust prose tions, declared his trust policy to be "to bust those we can't trust, and trust those we can't bust," and explained that when a trust was reorganized, "the small stockholders lose their's guicker."

The real trouble began when President Wilson undertook to frame his message, as the Bryan Cabinet insisted on relieving him, Many good topics were delared to be reserved for four years, such as Philippine independence, government ownership of telegraphs, penny postage, etc.

But the Cabinet agreed that for present consideration it might take up the protection of the fur seal; the abolition of the turkey trot at inaugural balls, civil service reform and the rule of "the people." And as the Cabinet meeting broke up, each member left in the President's hand a little memorandum to this effect:

"The thing to bear down on hard is one four-year-term for the President of the United States."

Miss Democracy came to the dinner in search of a mascot, which afforded the musical members of the Gridiron Club an opportunity to revive the comic opera of that name as a vehicle for a parody on the political situation. Other masco's came in order: "Miss Filipino Independence," "Miss Investigation." who believed the nation needed watching. "Initiative" and "Miss Riff-rafferendum," who thought "things right side up at present, should be turned upside down." Last and most impressive was "Professor Higher Education" on a tricycle, who, with Miss Democracy, sang the famous "Gobble Duet." the refrain running:

Millionaire Hobo Leader How Is Cast Out by His Followers

New Orleans, February I.—James Ends How, of St. Louis, the self-styled "millionalre hobo leader," who first organized the "migratory workers of the world," and called the First National Hobo Convention, was repudiated as a leader by the hobos in convention here to-day. How tried to inject socialism into the proceedings, and the "bose" finally tired of his prepagands, and to-day the former leader was "squelched" and told to get out.

Tired of How and the monotonous light between him and President Jefferson Davis over the question of socialism, the hoboes broke up the convention of the "international Brotherhood Welfare Association," threw How and his principles out and organized a "hobo mass-meeting." How declared he was not a Socialist, but merely a "philosophical anarchist," and tried to tell the delegates that Jefferson Davis was himself a dyed-in-the-wood Socialist. The hoboes, however, howled How down and stood by Davis.

"Down with How and his postage stamp philanthrophy; he has never given us any of his mythical millious," shouted Davis, and the hoboes of the appropriating S1 for the Purchase of tobacco for the hoboes of the appropriating S1 for the Purchase of tobacco for the hoboes Tariff Hearings End and Committee Will Begin Framing of Bill.

Washington. February L.-All tariff hearings so far as the public is concerned were concluded to-day, and the real work of framing in committee the revision legislation for submission to the next Congress will begin next Monday.

The House Committee on Ways and Means devoted to-day to hearing evidence suggestive of changes in the customs administrative act and a miscellany of items bearing on the free list.

James L. Gerry, of New York, former chief of the customs division of the Treasury, and W. J. Gibson, of New York, advocated a number of administrative reforms, based on the contention that they would simplify the customs requirements and make them more equitable.

The final testimony in the twenty-three days of hearings mass in pica from the domestic mass for the admission of those articles formed.

The Democratic of the committee will meet Monday in executive session, and meet day thereafter to form the new bill. According to Democratic leaders if probably will be ready about March it.

The fourteen schedules of the hill will be taken up in regular sequence, and a Democratic caucus of the House as soon as the extra season begins will determine finally whether schedule by schedule consider.

plan.
Chairman Underwood said to-night that the net result of the hearings was of benefit to the committee, and that they had produced some new light on various articles which would aid in the work of revising the tariff. STANDARD SELLS OUT.
